What:

Introducing Humanities Montana's new executive director, Randi Lynn Tanglen. Randi will share how Humanities Montana is providing Montanans with community, connection, and relief grants in response to the social and economic impact of COVID-19 and answer your questions.

Basic Zoom Guidelines

We understand that some of you may be new to Zoom, so we wanted to include some basic guides to familiarize yourself the meeting functions. You can also use a Zoom Test Meeting to practice connecting audio and video, sharing content, and using the Participant and Chat panels.

Chat Panel

Selecting the chat icon opens the chat panel, where you can type your questions and respond to others. Press Enter to send your message.

Reactions

Meeting participants can react during a meeting by sending a thumbs up or clapping to communicate without interrupting the meeting. Press and hold the reactions button to see options.

Mute/Unmute Microphone

all participants will be automatically muted upon entering the town hall. Please remain muted unless called upon.

Start/Stop Video

The town hall will be recorded to share with those who cannot attend. If you wish, you may opt out of sharing your video by clicking this icon.

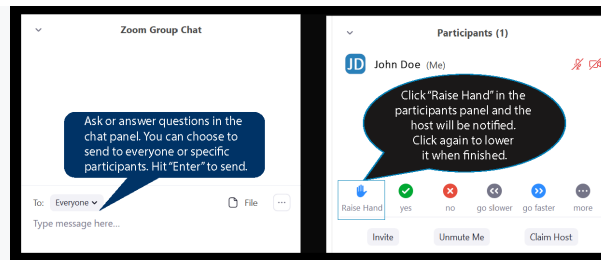

Participants Panel

Selecting the participants icon will open the participants panel, where you will see a list of all participants and a few nonverbal communication options at the bottom.

Zoom Chat and Participant Panels

There will be a few opportunities during the meeting to interact non-verbally and we encourage you to do so!

SUPPORT THE HUMANITIES

From major to modest, your support sustains us.

This is an unprecedented age for our organization and we are more grateful than ever for your continued support of Humanities Montana and our communities during this time. At a time when divisions may be easier to see than the values that unite us, our work brings people together and honors our shared humanity. We are confident that with your help our mission —serving communities through conversation and nurturing ideas— will remain strong now and into the future.
