

Humanities MONTANA

311 BRANTLY
MISSOULA, MT 59812
(406) 243-6022

Humanities Montana
quality humanities programs to build bridges to span the gaps in our cultural, generational, geographic,
economic, and political divides.

Our Mission: Humanities Montana serves
communities through stories and ideas by conversation. We offer experiences that nurture imagination and ideas by speaking to Montanans' diverse history,
literature, and philosophy.
WWW.HUMANITIESMONTANA.ORG

Humanities Montana invites you to join us for HUMANITIES IN THE TIME OF COVID:

A VIRTUAL TOWN HALL

AUGUST 6

3PM | Hosted by HM's
new executive director,

Randi Lynn Tanglen, Ph.D.

Native scholar and poet Elizabeth Cook-Lynn of the Crow Creek Sioux Tribe reminds us, «Art and literature and storytelling are at the epicenter of all that a nation, an individual, and identity intends to be.» These words about community, story, and identity were central to my teaching philosophy as a college professor in Texas. Now that I have returned to my beloved home state, this quote reminds me also of Humanities Montana's vital mission as we respond to the coronavirus pandemic and the recent paradigm shift in national conversations about racial equity.

I wish I could meet long-time supporters of Humanities Montana in person for further discussion about the role of the Humanities in these unprecedented times. In the meantime, I invite you to join me on Humanities in the Time of Covid-19: A Virtual Town Hall, Thursday, August 6 at 3:00 p.m. I will introduce myself and show Humanities Montana's providing Montanans in action, and relief grants in response to the impact of COVID-19. I invite you also to submit a question or comment by sending an email to randi@humanitiesmt.org.

Humanities
MONTANA

Humanities MONTANA

311 BRANTLY
MISSOULA, MT 59812
(406) 243-6022

Humanities Montana delivers access to quality humanities programs to communities across the state. We intend to build bridges to span the canyons of our cultural, generational, geographic,
economic, and political divides.

Our Mission: Humanities Montana serves
communities through stories and ideas by conversation. We offer experiences that nurture imagination and ideas by
speaking to Montanans' diverse history,
literature, and philosophy.

WWW.HUMANITIESMONTANA.ORG

Humanities Montana invites you to join us for HUMANITIES IN THE TIME OF COVID:

A VIRTUAL TOWN HALL

AUGUST 6

3PM | Hosted by HM's
new executive director,

Randi Lynn Tanglen, Ph.D.

Native scholar and poet Elizabeth Cook-Lynn of the Crow Creek Sioux Tribe reminds us, «Art and literature and storytelling are at the epicenter of all that a nation, an individual, and identity intends to be.» These words about community, story, and identity were central to my teaching philosophy as a college professor in Texas. Now that I have returned to my beloved home state, this quote reminds me also of