Dear First name,

Remember how fun Valentine's Day was as a kid?

Making valentines out of construction paper and lace, decorating shoeboxes with glitter, and handing out cards to classmates – it was a day filled with warmth and excitement.

This Valentine's Day, we want to recapture the joy and celebrate the important people in your life.

We invite you to give a gift today to honor those who inspired your love for the humanities.

Your humanities valentine can be living, dearly departed, a fictional character, known to you personally, or someone you have never met. At your direction, we will announce your gift with a valentine ecard or notification in the mail.

Happy Valentine's Day!
